Group Project Example Prompts

1) Music is a very powerful that can connect people together. Try to use microbits to create novel musical instruments that are able to work together and produce music. You may even want to perform your composition!

2) Many of us have a lot of notes we can share with each other. Try to create a database that people might be able to interact with in order to upload their learning resources and view other students' resources.

3) The world is a crazy place and it is very hard for us to keep track of everything going on. Try to create a simple feed that allows people to look at the top headlines of the day from all around the world!
